

Terms of Publication

By agreeing to publish your work in Neon Literary Magazine you are agreeing to the following terms.

1. Publishing Rights

You give permission for Neon Books/Krishan Coupland to:

- Publish your work in print and a range of digital formats as part of an issue of Neon Literary Magazine
- Make the print edition available to purchase until the print run has sold out
- Make the digital edition available to purchase or request indefinitely

You agree that Neon Books/Krishan Coupland might also:

- Publish your work on the Neon Books/Neon Magazine websites at the time of the issue launch, and keep it there indefinitely

You grant Neon Books/Krishan Coupland the right to do this on a one-time basis, meaning that your work will not be reprinted (for example in a “best of” anthology) without asking for your permission again.

You grant Neon Books/Krishan Coupland the right to do this on a non-exclusive basis, meaning that you are free to publish your work elsewhere at any time.

2. Payment

For this, Neon Books/Krishan Coupland will pay you at the rate of:

- 2 pence (GBP) per word for fiction;
- 20 pence (GBP) per line for poetry;
- £5 per image for photography;
- £5 per page for comics.

You will be paid a minimum of £10 for your contribution. You will be paid within a month of agreeing to these terms. On publication you will also receive one complimentary print copy of the magazine featuring your work.

3. Edits

Neon Books/Krishan Coupland may make small changes to spelling, punctuation and grammar in your work in order to correct typos and align it with house style. You will be given the opportunity to approve or amend a proof of your work before publication.

4. Cancellation

Neon Books/Krishan Coupland will publish your work in a timely fashion. On acceptance you will be given an indication of when the issue featuring your work is due to be published. If Neon Books/Krishan Coupland has not published your work within one year of this indicated window of time, Neon Books/Krishan Coupland will automatically relinquish the rights to publish your work as described above.

Likewise if Neon Books/Krishan Coupland does not adhere to the other terms outlined in this agreement Neon Books/Krishan Coupland will automatically relinquish the rights to publish your work as described above.

5. Withdrawal

You may withdraw your work from publication at any time before typesetting of the issue featuring your work has begun (after this point withdrawal will not be possible). If withdrawing your work from publication you will be required to return any fee paid to you for the rights to publish your work.

The digital edition of the magazine will remain available indefinitely via the Neon Magazine/Neon Books websites, academic databases, libraries and online eBook retailers. Because of the nature of these services it is not possible to remove your work from an issue once published, or to end the availability of a digital issue.

6. Responsibilities

Any legal issues that arise from the content of your work are yours to respond to. Any legal issues that arise from the publication or distribution of your work as part of the magazine are the responsibility of Neon Books/Krishan Coupland.

You agree to make Krishan Coupland/Neon Books aware if your work has been published before, and to ascertain that the original publisher is happy for it to be reprinted.

By agreeing to these terms you affirm that the work is your original creation, and that you own the copyright to it.